Welcome

HOCKEY is the fastest team sport in the world and the most difficult of all games to play and watch. Performing on skates and wearing a dozen pieces of protective equipment, the hockey player must move with his head up at all times to avoid body checks and errant sticks, and still manage to control the little black puck at the end of his own stick. He must keep his balance—and his composure too—despite severe body contact, and he must execute all of hockey's complicated maneuvers without breaking his skating stride. Clearly, the hockey player's job is a difficult one.

We all know this and that is why we are here. Have a great time and SKATE!

To All Competitors:

Each of you has earned my respect for your year-long dedication and hard work.

To reach one of your goals of competing in the National Championships must be very rewarding. The experiences that you have learned along the way will be much more valuable than winning the Championship.

It is my wish that your future successes are built upon your hockey experiences.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Butera

TO: All Participants and Attendees

WELCOME!! on behalf of the Atlantic District of AHAUS.

I hope that you will enjoy this tournament as much as we enjoy providing it for you.

For those of you from other parts of the country, despite our recent killer storm, you should enjoy visiting the New Jersey Shore and even Atlantic City is not that far away. If any of you need help arranging transportation or any other special arrangements, please contact George Haviland or myself and we will be happy to do whatever we can to help make your stay a pleasant one.

Sincerely yours,

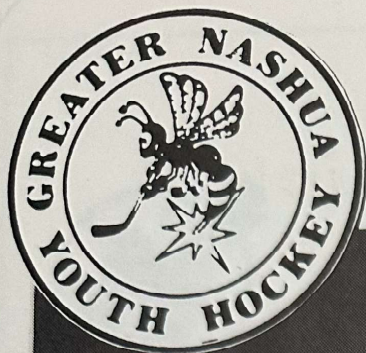

Kenneth R. Gesner

To All Competitors:

Congratulations on reaching the final step in the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States (AHAUS) National Championship. I know that each of you have practiced and worked hard for many hours to attain the success demonstrated by being here.

During this past season, I hope that you have learned more about the sport of ice hockey, about team play and about yourself. And, most importantly, I hope that you have had FUN in playing.

Good luck in this year's championship, and continued success in the many years ahead.

Yours truly,

MESSAGE FROM THE TOURNAMENT CHAIRMAN.....

This program book is made possible by the generous and devoted sponsors whose ads or names appear on these pages. We urge you to patronize and support them in order that we may warrant their continued consideration.

We extend our sincere thanks to all those dedicated and hard working volunteers who have given so freely of their time and effort to the continuing success of YOUTH HOCKEY.

I personally wish all of our midget teams success and remind them that true championship teams consistently display two qualities in their performances, SPORTSMANSHIP and DESIRE.

Sportsmanship both on and off the ice!
And desire to always do their best!

To all our players, parents and team personnel, I hope you enjoy this National Tournament and have a safe stay.

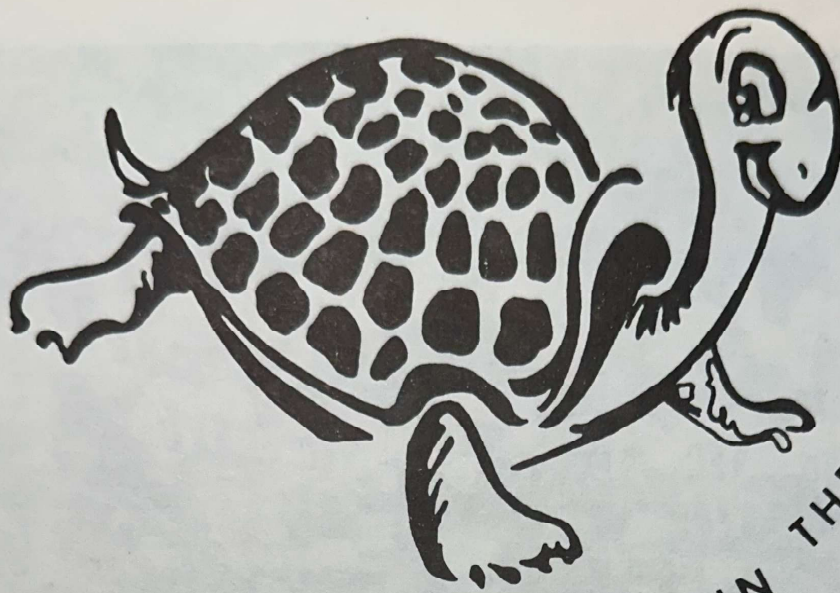

George Haviland
Midget Tier II National Tournament
Chairman 1984

NEW JERSEY DEVILS

Special thanks to the New Jersey Devils for their generous donation of hockey pucks for the tournament games and for each participating midget player.

HUSTLE

Almost from the moment a boy laces his first pair of skates, someone is urging him to hustle. His father, his brother, his teammates, his coaches, his fans and even his mother tell him to hustle.

He soon discovers that hustle is an attitude. It can be described in many ways. In a phrase, it is "being there first." It is maximum effort joyfully expressed. Hustle is a driving, vigorous desire to succeed, and that motivation is visible. It is skating like a man on fire and enjoying every eye-watering second of it.

Hustle wears many faces. Whoops, hollers, scowls and laughter are all aspects of the devil that motivates hustle. But determination is at the bottom of it all.

Hustle is also concentration, singleness of purpose. Hustle eliminates pain and enhances courage. You give a little more than you, or the coach, or your opponent thought you had. It is stops and starts until your lungs jam your rib cage and your breath turns to steam. Hustle is changing shifts on the fly, and heading right for the goal. Hustle is not talk; it is action.

Hustle is doing one thing while thinking about the next move and the one after that. It is knowing where your teammate will be and sending the puck to him, right on the money.

When you hustle, you'll know it. Girls wink at you, players respect you, coaches use you as an example and kids wait for your smile after the game. You'll feel your teammate's sweaty glove on the back of your neck, and you'll see the crowd jumping in the air. The lights on the scoreboard change and there is a feeling inside that is all your own.

You see hustle is not just a word. It's character, personality and habit all rolled into a way of life. It's the thing that makes hockey worth every fleeting minute of the effort.

Wouldn't You Just Love To . . . .

See the coach skate 20 laps.

See the scoreboard 15-1 (your favor)
in the first period.

Have games and practices at convenient times.

Not have to wear a mouth piece.

Replace the guy who hogs the puck.

Call the opponents "whimps".

Let your parents know how obnoxious
they were during the game.

Never miss a pass.

Have enough hockey tape.

Quit when you can't hit an open net.

Say hello to that "DOLL" in the stands.

Score the winning goal.

Not have Mom washing the game jersey
while on a winning streak.

Always have perfectly sharpened skates.

Erase the bad days from the scorebook.

Have hockey gloves that don't stink.

Have that hundred mile an hour slap shot never miss the net.

Have the team manager arrange 200
games a hockey season.

Have the referee's eyes examined.

Take the assignment to deal with rough opponents.

Go to McDonald's, Burger King or Wendy's
after every game.

Win the Midget National Championship.

AHAUS: Designed To Help You

AHAUS. Many of you have seen these letters stamped across patches, pins and instructional manuals. They represent the "Amateur Hockey Association of the United States", the governing body for all amateur ice hockey in this country.

Along with being the national governing body for amateur ice hockey, the AHAUS is the official representative to the United States Olympic Committee and the International Ice Hockey Federation. In these roles, the AHAUS is responsible for organizing and training teams for international competition, whether it be a world tournament or the Olympics. It also coordinates activities with other national ice hockey federations around the world and, closer to home, works with the National Hockey League on matters of mutual interest.

However, those programs are just a small part of the AHAUS. The real purpose of the association is to administrate a well-organized youth sports program for those interested in playing amateur ice hockey in this country. Its goals are to educate participants, administrators, parents, coaches, officials, fans and others in the game of ice hockey while encouraging more people to become involved in the program.

The AHAUS is divided into eleven registration districts throughout the United States. Each district has a Registrar to register teams, a Referee-In-Chief to register officials and organize clinics and a Coaching Program Director to administrate an educational program.

For the player, the AHAUS conducts annual regional and national championships in various age classifications, sponsors regional and national summer camps for Midget-age players at the United States Olympic Training Center, studies and makes recommendations for protective equipment, distributes Hat Trick, Playmaker and Zero Club awards, directs National Youth Hockey Week and provides an optional low-cost insurance plan.

For coaches and officials, the AHAUS conducts clinics and publishes training manuals through the Coaching Achievement Program and the Officiating Program. Both of these programs can enrich the knowledge of either a coach or official through careful study, training and examination. The AHAUS also promotes uniformity in playing rules and their interpretations.

The AHAUS has not forgotten parents either, providing these vital members of amateur hockey with a "Parents' Guide To Youth Hockey", which includes tips on buying equipment, rules of the game, their roles as parents and much, much more.

Finally, the AHAUS acts as a clearinghouse for information to assist local organizations find solutions to problems at the grass roots levels, and annually publishes an "Official Guide" of the AHAUS By-Laws, Constitution, Rules and Regulations, Board of Directors, Officers, Affiliate Associations and Staff.

AHAUS. These letters represent an association designed to help you and our favorite sport grow.
